

The Future of Production & Operations Management

The officers of the Operations Management Student Association at the University of Dayton extend best wishes to all members of POMS for another successful conference.

