

14th Annual Emerging Scholars Program

IMPORTANT NOTICE

14th Annual Program for Emerging Scholars of POM Program Announcement and Invitation to Apply

To: Untenured university faculty holding tenure-track teaching positions in the field of Production and Operations Management

From: Jack Kanet, University of Dayton, Chair

This is to invite you to apply for participation in the special "Emerging Scholars Program" session of the POMS 2017 Conference in Seattle, WA on Sunday May 7, 2017, 7:00-11:00 a.m. In order to foster the development of new professionals pursuing academic careers in OM, the Production and Operations Management Society is sponsoring this special session of the conference.

The goal of this half-day program is to provide new university professionals in OM with career-building advice in developing excellence in their personal programs of teaching, research, and service. The program is highly interactive and will feature internationally recognized senior OM scholars as discussion leaders.

The program will be limited to 16 participants. To apply you must hold a tenure track university position, be registered for the conference, and commit to attend the entire half-day program. If you are interested in participating, please do the following:

1. Register for the conference
2. Send a short email describing what you hope to achieve through the program, stating your current academic position, along with a copy of your current vita on or before January 31, 2017, to POMSES@udayton.edu.

Participants will be selected February 15, 2017.

Sponsored by

School of Business Administration

UNIVERSITY of DAYTON